Has Requested Daniels for Early Action.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 12.—Thomas Mott Osborne, commander of the Portsmouth, N. H., naval prison has tendered his resignation from the naval reserve force, and has asked Secretary Daniels to accept it as soon as his success or at Portsmouth can be chosen.

They said he first presented his resignation some time before the charges were made but later withdrew it. The inquiry so far had developed no foundation for the charges.

Normal report on the investigation which is being conducted by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt and Rear Admirals Dunn and Holstead will be submitted Feb. 24.

Before meeting the brotherhood officials, the President will study in detail the report of the wage negotiations which Mr. Hines will submit through Secretary Tumulty.

The Director General was in conference with Secretary Tumulty this morning and then returned to his office to complete the memorandum for the President, who will be asked to make the final decision on the demands presented by the railroad workers nearly a year ago.

Mr. Hines has made a tentative appointment for this afternoon with J. B. These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

CHILDREN BEGGING FOR FOOD

One of the Sixth Corps Unit working under the Near East Relief, Father Henry of Amherst, Massachusetts, in a letter recently received in this city, draws light on conditions in the Caucasus. Mrs. Henry writes:

"Yesterday we went to see some hospitals and orphanages and schools for children in the district of Amherst and I was weak both physically and mentally after it all. Deeds and dying and sick on all sides, in the streets, in the fields and worst of all, in the hospitals themselves. That seemed the most heart-breaking experience of the day. To hear the children begging for food from their sick beds, and to see their faces, their faces with their great eyes and hollow cheeks and almost blank expressions. When I saw Dr. Usher, who is a widow of a soldier, I saw this morning to invent a gas to comfort him. I began to see the millions more pining. There they lay, children, from two to ten years of age, quite, pale, and thin. Dr. Usher wanted to determine whether those in charge were taking out the lead boxes as had been ordered, or were neglecting in their duty. And there I stood and watched him feel the pulse of those children and brush away the flies from their faces. And the future for these people—what is it? We aren't sure even yet of the Peace Treaty and who is to have control of the region, and I assure you, we are soon to know!"

Today I went with the Major and Miss White, one of the Red Cross nurses, up to a part of the district where I have been to go over since I have been here. We were up at daylight and filed the back of the Doctor full of clothes and native cloth and started for a forty mile trip up, up where reports had it that the misery was unusual. Major had been before and knew, but he was not prepared for the extent of it. We took the road covered with human bones, and I saw two hundred children and dressed them in brand new underwear and outer garments and on the way of it, both for them and for me. We personally saw the cremating of their remains which were taken off and even their bones were stolen while the Major's back was turned. Then we saw the sick cases—children lying in filth on a mud floor, and administered what we could. No particular group of children in the place are under our organization, but have been gathered from the fields and hills where they were wandering by some of the villages with hearts. So you see why I want to stay in the field?"

Everyone who wants to help one of these wretched children to life and health and possible happiness, the sacred right of every child, is given an opportunity by the present campaign for Near East Relief.

FLOUR IS DROPPING IN PRICE

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 11.—For the second time within a week flour dropped 50 cents a barrel at the market here today. The decline is attributed to the uncertain and erratic wheat situation. Standard flour in 95-pound cotton sacks was quoted at $12.25 a barrel, against $14.25 a week ago.

The production of flour is known to be materially heavier than a year ago and the exports much lighter. Added to this the United States Grain Corporation has been selling a very good brand of flour so that it reaches the consumer at a price $4 to $6.50 a barrel below that asked for fancy grades. This flour has proved to be in great demand.

Almost as important is the reported determination of a majority of the committee greatly to reduce the appropriations of $35,000,000 asked by Secretary Daniels for aviation purposes. It was stated that millions will be cut from this section of the bill.

What Would Lincoln Do?

February 12, the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, will be observed in the customary manner by the patriotic organizations of the country and should cause all to think seriously on the character and life of that wonderful man, and to resolve to follow his example to the best of their ability in dealing with the perplexing problems of the present.

Men are often led to wonder what Lincoln would do if he were living now and in the position of leadership which he held during the period of the Civil War. It is impossible to map out the course he would pursue, but the whole world knows that his aim would be to serve humanity, for which he had such a great love and in which he had such great faith. He would be no partisan in the great work of reconstruction. He would identify himself with no clique or class, but would strive diligently and persistently for the greatest good of the greatest number.

That was Lincoln's way, and it was one that may well be followed by those in positions of influence and power at this trying time. The country has been engaged in the greatest war in history. The immediate ends sought in that war have been achieved, but there is a vast amount of work to be done to restore the country and the world to normal conditions and enable the nations to live in peace, prosperity and contentment.

To this work the leaders of all parties should bring the best that is in them. They should rise above all striving for mere partisan advantage and seek earnestly and unselfishly the good of the nation as a whole. There is no risk in saying that is what Lincoln would do if he were now on the scene of action.

These are simple thoughts, but they should be in the minds of all patriotic men and women on this anniversary of Lincoln's birth. It is not easy to rise above personal and partisan ambitions and desires, but there are times when this must be done if the best is to be attained, and this is such a time. Those occupying positions of leadership in this vastly important work of reconstruction are under a tremendous obligation, and they can be guided aright only by a supreme desire and an unalterable determination to serve all of the people fearlessly, faithfully and to the best of their ability.

This is the thought and the lesson for Lincoln Day, 1920. A great victory has been won in the field and on the seas, and the fruits of that victory must not be jeopardized by failure to measure up to the duty still remaining to be performed. If those upon whom this duty devolves will follow in the footsteps of the immortal Emancipator and proceed as he did, "With malice toward none and charity for all," the clouds will speedily lift and the country and the world will step forth into the light of a brighter and better day for all the children of men.

The Ossipee, a cutter of the United States Coast Guard, made a fine record in relief work while partially disabled during the recent severe weather before putting into Portsmouth harbor for repairs. She and her crew are well entitled to the rest they will have before resuming the arduous duties for which they are maintained.

The coming minstrel entertainment to be given by the Allied Veterans of Portsmouth promises to be one of the best of the kind ever presented in the city, and will undoubtedly draw a crowded house.

St. Valentine's Day is near at hand, but it is not productive of the fear and trembling with which it was accompanied in the days when the comic valentine was more generally considered to be "great stuff."

Of course that honor medal provided by the officers and men of the Student Army Training Corps at New Hampshire College had to come to Portsmouth the first time it was awarded. You can't lose this little city by the sea.

The big storm couldn't prevent the launching of the latest submarine to be slid into the water at the navy yard. It was not an agreeable day for the workmen or the spectators, but the vessel took its plunge according to schedule and all was well.

If the excessive profits taxes are to be abolished, as some are advocating, how would it do at the same time to abolish the excess profits. All but those who are reaping them could stand such a program, which might have a favorable effect on the cost of living.

WAR VETERAN
BURIED ALIVEDies After Being Pulled From Beneath Coal Pile.

Providence, Feb. 12.—Eldred G. West, of Seabrook, Mass., a veteran of the 26th Division, was buried alive under several hundred pounds of soft coal at the Belds Point dock of Casner, Curron & Bullitt Wednesday and died of asphyxiation soon after fellow workers released him. Three other men working near him were burned and narrowly escaped a similar fate.

Three men standing in the lighter shoved the coal away in an attempt to extricate West. When he was pulled from beneath the pile he was still alive but unconscious. The workmen tried to revive him but failed.

GRAFFORT CLUB

Barbara Bradford (Mrs. J. P. Kennedy) spoke before the Graffort Club Wednesday afternoon at the North Church Chapel. Her subject was "The Social Message of Six Great Leaders of Modern Thought." She gave an interpretative lecture on the works of social dramatists Ibsen, Strindberg, Moller, Galsworthy, Bernard Shaw and Dreux.

From Ibsen, Mrs. Kennedy read parts of the play "The Doll's House," depicting woman as an independent human being, this portrayal being a departure from the writers of previous times. The speaker said that in her opinion had it not been for Ibsen there would now be no women's clubs.

From Strindberg, she read part of the play "The Father," from Galsworthy, portions of the play "The Ebb Tide," from Moller, "The Blue Bird," this play indicating that the author lives and moves in a land of dreams and beauty. Moller's play shows woman as the deliverer of her own kind. From Bernard Shaw, the speaker read parts of "Man and Superman" and from Dreux, two plays entitled "Maternity." Dreux stated that if he had lessened "by just a little the sum of human misery in the world through his plays he felt that his time had not been wasted. He claimed his message was better understood in the United States than in any other country.

Mrs. Kennedy handled her subject in a manner which was masterly and of great interest to the members present.

Professor Whoriskey of New Hampshire College, will speak before the club on Wednesday, February 18th, under the department of current events. His subject will be announced later.

MAY RESEAT
SOCIALISTS

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The close of today's session of the trial before the assembly judiciary committee of the five suspended Socialist Assemblymen charged with disloyalty was marked by two developments—denial by Chairman Martin of preliminary motions of the defense to strike out portions of the evidence introduced by the State and an intellectual effort by Assemblyman William H. Pellett, committee member, to have that body recommend to the Assembly dismissal of all charges on the ground of insufficient proof.

Mr. Pellett, a New York Republican, proposed dismissal at an executive session called at his request after the hearing had been adjourned until next Tuesday on motion by the defense.

Chairman Martin, who made light of the Pellett action, stated after the meeting that "only an informal discussion" of the proposal had taken place, and that it then had been tabled until next Tuesday. Mr. Pellett made no formal motion, according to Martin, and no vote was taken.

Mr. Pellett's move followed issuing of the statement last night by Assemblyman Maurice Bloch and William S. Evans, fellow committeemen, asserting they would not be "surprised" to see returned a majority report recommending reseating of the ousted members. This joint statement was denounced at today's hearing by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, another member of the tribunal.

MOSES SCORES
ADMINISTRATION"Would Make Drunken Sailor
Look Like Thrifty Old
Maid," He Says.

Boston, Feb. 12.—Members of the New England Retail Clothiers' Association held their annual meeting and election of officers at the Boston City Club yesterday and at the banquet held last night jointly with the Men's Apparel Club of New England heard United States Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire declare that "the prodigality of the present administration would make a drunken sailor look like a New England old maid of great thrift by comparison."

U. S. Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, vice president of the Clothiers' Association, and Franklin N. Whitney of Simons, Hatch & Whitten Co., were the other after dinner speakers. They were introduced by the retiring president of the clothiers' association, former Gov. Charles M. Floyd of New Hampshire.

At the business session resolutions were adopted placing the blame for the present high price of clothing upon the manufacturer, and exonerating the retail dealer from charges of profiteering.

The resolutions declared that, "In view of the fact that many unwarranted statements have been made in the public press throughout the country that the prices of clothing will be reduced in the near future, it is incumbent upon the New England Retail Clothiers' Association to acquaint the public with the facts affecting the clothing situation."

"The woolen worsted mills have recently made their prices for full consumption and their figures show that he prices are 70 percent higher than in 1913, and 30 percent higher than they were in 1915; it is also a fact that trimmings etc., used in the making of clothing have advanced 250 percent since 1915. The cost of labor has advanced 250 percent over 1915, and every other expense entering into the making of clothing has advanced a like proportion."

"As a concrete example, a blue serge suit that retailed for $20 in 1915 will now be sold for $50 this spring, at a reduced percentage of profit to the retailer."

"The New England Clothiers' Association goes on record that should circumstances arise whereby we are enabled to get price concessions from the manufacturer, we pledge ourselves to give the benefit of such concessions to the public, whose servants we believe ourselves to be, because only through the good will of the consumer can we make a success of our business."

President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Company was criticized sharply and the Lawrence merchants whom he charged with profiteering commended in another resolution which read, "This association goes on record as endorsing the position taken by the Lawrence retail clothiers in their controversy with Mr. Wood of the American Woolen Co., and we offer the assistance of the association to

BIG BAZAAR WILL CLOSE THIS EVENING

The second night of the bazaar at St. Patrick's school for the benefit of the clergy of devastated France, brought throngs of people to the large assembly hall in the school building and every one present enjoyed the occasion.

The booths had a steady stream of patrons and the candy and food booths were entirely sold out. The rose tree was still an attraction and roses were bought by many. There were various amusement features throughout the evening. The entertainment program given by children of the Parochial school made a pronounced hit; this included a minstrel show by boys and girls and caused no end of merriment. The little folks took their parts well and the songs and jokes created much fun. "The Cleaners," another number on the program, was given by a group of girls in yellow gowns and hats of the same shade. The entire entertainment program was well planned and gave evidence of much preparatory work and the participants received liberal applause.

The first number on the program was an action song with an accompanying "Kerry" dance. This number was entitled "The Nervous Little Man" and was performed by Bernard Woods and Edna Kelley, who were accompanied by Veronica Horan on the piano.

Phonist—Mrs. Mary Chase Joyce. On Wednesday afternoon a matinee was given for the children and throngs of little folks attended. Tonight in the closing night and it is expected another large crowd will be present. There will be plenty of attractions offered and the program will be given by the children, the features to be presented being "Humways," "Grandma's Party" and "Haymole."

The bazaar is for a worthy purpose and those who have not attended should take the last opportunity to go this evening.

BAZAAR STILL DOING BIG BUSINESS

The members of the Osgood Lodge and their lady assistants will be a third lot by the end of their big bazaar. The business continues. Wednesday evening, the third night saw as big a crowd as on the opening and every body was kept on the hustle to supply the demands of the buying crowd. All of the booths have been replenished and they are kept well supplied with materials.

Last evening there was a good musical vaudeville act along with music by the orchestra and dancing. Wednesday afternoon there was a matinee and Miss Zylitha Woods had a solo Dutch dance.

A five pound box of chocolates has been given each evening for the lady who made a designated number as she entered the hall, the counting of the numbers being kept by the doorkeepers. The winner of the first night was Mrs. Katherine Plover; on the second, Mrs. Fred Lindsay and the third night Mrs. James Schumann.

Marden's orchestra adds much to the enjoyment of the fair patrons and the selections given are most pleasing. Dancing is enjoyed in the corner.

The booths have been replenished and there is still much to offer patrons. The entertainment program for this evening will be a feature and as this is the closing night of the big bazaar a large throng should be present.

The fair is held to raise funds for interior repairs to the National block on Congress street which the lodge has recently purchased and where it holds its meetings.

FAVOR LEAGUE OF PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL

W. P. Gray of Lewiston, who was here on Wednesday, was greatly interested in the news of the revival of professional basketball in this city and he is of the opinion that it has come back to stay. Mr. Gray is the manager of the old Portsmouth professional team and afterwards the manager of the famous St. John's team has a considerable experience with professional basketball. In speaking of the sport he said that he would be glad to organize a team in Lewiston for another winter. If a notable league could be organized for professional basketball, such a league with Lewiston, Portland, Portsmouth, Haverhill, Lowell and Dover would make a fine circuit and it would be a success.

Henry Cragen who was one of 1800 Gray's old Portsmouth players, is willing to handle a team in this city and there is no question but the other cities could secure teams. A team to make it really showing in such a league would have to secure the country for the best of the basketball players, as Gray would put a team in Lewiston of the old type, hard aggressive players.

TO HOLD A PRACTICE SHOOT ON SATURDAY

The extreme winter weather has put rather a crimp in trap shooting, as every Saturday has found the weather either so severe or the traveling so bad that the shoot at the Country Club have not been held. If the weather is at fall right on Saturday the club will hold a practice shoot, in preparation for the big shoot which will be held on Washington birthday.

The road into the club will be closed out by Saturday and the trap house cleared of snow, so that good shooting conditions will depend alone upon the weather. The snow has drifted in over the range, but it will not require much shoveling to get the house clear and the shooting platform open. The Log Cabin can easily be heated and a good afternoon sport enjoyed.

JOE STECHER WINS FROM JACK DWYER

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 11.—Joe Stecher of Nebraska, world's champion catch-as-catch-can wrestler, defeated Jack Dwyer of Michigan here tonight in two straight falls. The first fall came in 43 minutes, 40 seconds and the second in 15 minutes, both with a lady seizers and arm lock.

DARTMOUTH WINS BY SCORE OF 17 TO 0

Hanover, Feb. 11.—Dartmouth's varsity hockey team added another game to its string of victories by defeating the Massachusetts Aggies tonight by a score of 17 to 0 on the rink of the alumni oval here this afternoon. The game was the fastest on the local rink this season and required a 10-minute extra period before the team succeeded in making its score.

AMESBURY HIGH WINS FROM DOVER

Dover, Feb. 11.—Amesbury High school defeated Dover High school 2-1 in a yesterday afternoon. The defeat of the Dover boys was unexpected for the locals felt sure of gaining victory over the Massachusetts boys. Snell of Dover, carrier of Amesbury, was star of the game. The game was evenly played till the last five minutes of the second period.

BOUT BETWEEN ROBINSON AND NELSON STOPPED

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 12.—The A. L. club show at the Academy this evening developed into one of the prize fights in many a season and culminated when Police Captain Charles H. Healey motioned the ring and ordered the scheduled banner number of the card; the bout between the local boy, Al Nelson and George Robinson, Cambridge, Mass., stopped and declared "no contest." The act came at the end of the sixth round of what was scheduled to be a 12-round bout and the decision of the police official was made only after he had personally ordered the men to fight or suffer the consequences, and after Referee Patsy Sweeney had threatened to lose the pair out of the ring twice. The club refunded the money to the patrons who totalled a fairly good attendance.

The consensus of opinion among the fans was that the fight was "bugged," that the negro could have rocked the local lad to sleep at any time and that he was endeavoring to "carry" him through the distance. No small number of them gave vent to their feelings as early as the second round and the only agitation grew as the fight progressed. The official halted the go in the third session and warned the negro to box. At the end of the fourth round Captain Healey made his first appearance and informed the fans and fighters that if Robinson did not do his best he could never again appear in Manchester. The crowd applauded.

Robinson and Nelson yowed they were doing their level best during the fight and after the completion of the affair Nelson made a speech alleging that it was no prearranged affair, and declaring that his name had never been mentioned in connection with anything of a shadowy nature.

SCULLY VERY ANXIOUS TO FIGHT CASE

May Be Heard in May; Firm of Sullivan and Daley Withdraw From Case.

The Scully-Chandler breach of promise case will likely not come to trial in the present term of superior court in Rockingham county and will go over to May.

The defendant, James J. Scully, according to his attorneys, Sewall and Waldron is anxious that the case be heard as soon as possible. He intends to fight the plaintiff, Mrs. Ellen Chandler, to the last ditch in her $20,000 suit and claims she has no grounds for her action against him.

The firm of Sullivan and Daley of Berlin who filed the suit on behalf of Mrs. Chandler have notified the attorneys for Mr. Scully that they have withdrawn from the case and that the interests of Mrs. Chandler would likely be placed in the hands of a Portsmouth attorney to be associated with Edward G. Daley of Boston one of the original lawyers instituting the suit on behalf of Mrs. Chandler.

STEAMERS YALE AND CHARLES TO BE SOLD

The sale of the oil-burning passenger steamers Yale and Charles, now at Philadelphia, has been authorized by the Naval Board of Surveys. They will be sold Feb. 21.

The Charles was formerly the Harvard. Both vessels were built expressly for the service between Boston and New York and were among the fastest boats in the coastwise service. Some years ago they were sold to Pacific Coast interests and were operated between San Pedro and San Francisco. The Government took them when the United States entered the war.
